Part I Grammar in Reading

Questions 1—10 are based on Part I.

Directions: In the following text, the numbers 1—10 in brackets refer to the underlined parts of the text that come after them, and to the questions below. Read the text first, and then answer the questions. Write your answers on the Answer Sheet.

Is the cell phone turning into the next PC? Today's sophisticated phones (1) have computer-like features (2) which allow their users to send email, browse the Web and take photos and videos. In Asia, it's not the boring business people driving the mobile (3) revolution but rather (4) what the Japanese call the Keitai-crazy kids. (5) They sit in Tokyo's crowded shopping areas (6) furiously messaging each other, reading electronic magazines, sending video images and (7) playing fantasy games like 'Dragon Quest'.

A recent survey of Korean primary school children showed (8) that half preferred a phone as a gift. Slightly less than a quarter chose a PC, while the remaining 25% reported a variety of preferences; (9) a few wanted MP3 players or digital cameras but most wanted their own TV set. Most Asian phone manufacturers agree that the next innovation for the cell phone (10) will be the introduction of handsets that can receive satellite TV programmes.

Directions: In the following text, the numbers 11—15 in brackets refer to the underlined parts of the text that come after them, and to the questions below. Read the text first, and then answer the questions. Write your answers on the Answer Sheet.

A Perfect Sunday Evening

(11) I was looking forward to a perfect Sunday evening. My wife was out on a quick errand, and as soon as she got back we would go for dinner at the new French restaurant. I was shaving when the phone rang. "No need to rush, darling", my wife said. "We're not going anywhere tonight." I felt like I was dreaming. "What happened?!" She then explained: (12) "I was preparing to stop at a red light when a huge lorry crashed into me. (13) The mudguard cut into the tyres, so I can't move the car. The lorry driver said his brakes broke. (14) He looked very upset. I'll have to fill in the insurance papers, wait for the towing service, (15) and then I'll take a cab home. By the way, have we got anything to eat in the fridge?"

Part IV Error Correction

Questions 21—30 are based on Part IV.

Directions: In the following text, there are altogether 10 errors, which are numbered and underlined. Correct the errors. Write your answers on the Answer Sheet.

Ben and his wife Susan were on their way to have dinner with their friends, Ian and Betty. It was a (21) wind, dark night, and they did not know the road very well. They drove through Cookstown, until they found (22) it they thought was the road to Dorling, (23) which Ian and Betty lived. But it soon became clear that they were not on the road to Dorling at all. The road that they were on was getting narrower, and there were no (24) the other cars on it. The wind was (25) blown harder with every minute that passed.

Now they went past a small church, and then two houses without lights on. There was nobody to find who could tell them where they were. Just then Ben (26) had caught sight of a telephone box, fifty metres or so ahead. They planned to telephone Ian and Betty (27) to help, so they moved a little bit and stopped their car in front of it. Ben got out of the car and was trying hard to open the door of the box when Susan saw a woman making telephone in the box. They had to wait for quite a long time in the freezing wind (28) when the door (29) open, and out came the young lady. It was nobody else but Betty, one of the (30) friend they had been looking for.

Part V Grammar in Writing

Questions 31—40 are based on Part V.

Directions: Below are 12 words and phrases. Select 10 of them and use their proper form to fill in the gaps in the text. Each word or phrase can only be used once. Write your answers on the Answer Sheet.

pipe, be, choose, on one's feet, where, book one's handbag, which, try, satisfy, especial, think

As she walked round the huge department store, Edith (31) how difficult it was (32) a proper Christmas present for her father. She wished that he was as easy to please as her mother, who was always (33) with a bottle of perfume (香水). Besides, shopping at this time of the year was most unpleasant experience; people stepped (34), and almost knocked you over in their hurry to get ahead of you.

Partly to have a rest, Edith paused in front of a counter (35) she saw some beautiful ties. "They are real silk", the assistant said to her, (36) to persuade her to buy one. "Worth double the price". But Edith knew from past experience that her choice of ties hardly ever pleased her father.

She moved on and then stopped where a small crowd of men had gathered round a counter. She found some good quality (37) on sale — and the prices were very reasonable. Edith didn't hesitate for long, although her father only smoked occasionally. She knew that this (38) a present which was certain to please him.

When she got home, with her small well-chosen present hidden in (39), her parents were already at the supper table. Her mother was (40) happy. "Your father has at last decided to stop smoking," she informed her daughter.
